

The Other Side

Lilian Monroe and Jason Castle have been inseparable nearly their whole lives. Having formed the deepest of friendships at an early age, they created a bond that no one was able to break. Both being offered amazing job opportunities after college, they had to come to terms with the distance those opportunities would create. Deciding to take a vacation with a few of their closest friends was their way of saying goodbye to each other before their lives would be altered forever. Two weeks of sun, sand, and bonding was all they planned on, but faced with the realization they wouldn't be together in the same way again, both began to wonder if their relationship ran deeper than just friendship.

Will Lilian and Jason be able to let go of each other to chase their dreams? Or is what they have always dreamed of right in front of them?
